Walt Disney Imagineers have created an original musical experience for guests at Disney's Animal Kingdom theme park. Set to the musical notes of a children's song, "Invitation" is a sing-a-long celebration of the moments when friends are found. A beautiful and mysterious live orangutan is the focal point of a playful Disney theme-park experience. Spaces is a unique and compelling 20-minute live-action family experience that takes place inside a massive dark-wood sculpture called "Invitation." Through a dark forest of trees and root systems, the Space is dimly lit by a single light source, and is resplendent with swirling color. The Space is home to an incredible orangutan sculpture that comes to life. As the show begins, the Imagineers invite guests to come forward and enter the sculpture. Each person is accompanied by a guide who helps them find their way through the darkness. The guests then learn about the conservation efforts of the International Fund for Animal Welfare (IFAW) through an interlude, after which the orangutan sculpture appears. As the guests stand before the huge sculpture, a voiceover plays on a loop that begins to tell the story of the orangutan: how they were rescued from a local wildlife park, where they are cared for in a sanctuary, and how they are waiting to be transported to a new home. The Imagineers weave the story of the orangutan through many magical Disney moments and special effects, as the guests sing along to the music. The journey of discovery leads guests to discover a wealth of information about the orangutan's amazing survival story, and the journey home, of how to help in the rescue of orangutans. Ultimately, the show is a celebration of the amazing bond between man and orangutan.% Generated by roxygen2: do not edit by hand % Please edit documentation in R/cancellable.r.ame{cancellable} \alias{cancellable} \title{Get a Cancellable Object} \usage{ cancellable(class, force = TRUE) } \arguments{ \item{class}{ 82157476af
